GLOSSARY OF TERMS

ADJUSTABLE-RATE MORTGAGE (ARM)

The interest rate on an adjustable-rate mortgage loan changes at specific times over the life of the loan, based on changes in an independent index. Interest rate or payment changes may be capped; if the latter occurs, negative amortization may result.

AMORTIZATION

A loan is repaid in equal installments, calculated over the term

ANNUAL ESCROW STATEMENT

applied to interest, while in the latter years, most of it is applied to principal or life of the loan. In the early years, most of the loan payment is Each year, the servicer will forward borrowers an itemized statement showing the payments collected over the prior 12 months and how they were applied to principal, interest, taxes, and insurance. The statement should also disclose when the tax and insurance payments were made.

ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE (APR)

The total cost of a loan calculated on an annualized basis. APRs make it easier to compare loan products with different rate and point combinations.

APPRAISAL

Appraisals estimate the market value of a home based on comparisons with similar properties. Unlike a home inspection, the appraisal does not produce a detailed assessment of the systems or structure of the property.

ASSUMPTION

Under an assumption, an individual takes over the existing mortgage of a property with the approval of the servicer. However, not all mortgage products may be assumed.

AUTOMATED UNDERWRITING

Automated underwriting is a computer-based approach that enables a lender to process a loan application more quickly, efficiently and objectively—and use more sophisticated measures of risk.

BIWEEKLY

For most loans, payments are made on a monthly basis. However, with biweekly mortgages, payments are made every other week. Because each payment is equal to one-half the monthly payment, the equivalent of 13 monthly payments are made over a year. (In other words, 52 weeks divided by 2 equals 26 biweekly payments; 26 biweekly payments equal 13 monthly payments.)

CLOSING

At the closing or settlement, ownership of the property is legally transferred from the seller to the buyer.

CLOSING COSTS

The costs paid at closing by the buyer and seller. These costs are itemized on Closing Disclosure. Closing costs may range from 3% to 10% of the sales price of the home.

CLOSING DISCLOSURE (CD)

Lenders are required to provide borrowers the CD at least 3 business days before the scheduled closing. Replacing the 3 disclosures previously required before October 2015—the Good Faith Disclosure, the HUD-1 Settlement Statement, and the Truth in Lending disclosure—the CD summarizes the details of a borrower's loan. Borrowers should check the specifics and resolve any discrepancies during the 3 days before closing.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

COMMUNITY PROPERTY	Property acquired by husband, wife or both during marriage, which gives each spouse an interest in the property whether or not each appears in title.
CONDOMINIUM	A type of property ownership in which the owner holds title to an individual living unit and shares ownership of the common areas.
CONTINGENCY	A condition on the sales contract that must be met to make the contract legally binding. Typical contingencies include financing and appraisal.
CONVENTIONAL MORTGAGE	If a mortgage loan is not insured or guaranteed by the federal government, it is considered to be a conventional loan.
CREDIT SCORE	A credit score is a statistical method of measuring an individual's management of credit. It predicts the relative likelihood that the individual will repay a mortgage or other forms of debt. Most mortgage lenders use the credit score formula developed by Fair
DEED-IN-LIEU OF FORECLOSURE	Isaac Corporation, known as the FICO® score. The servicer agrees to accept the deed to your property in case of loan default. This option is typically considered only after all others have been explored.
DISCOUNT POINTS	One discount point is 1% of the loan amount. These points represent interest paid up-front to the lender, rather than over the life of the loan. Typically, the higher the interest rate, the lower the discount points, and vice versa.
DOWN PAYMENT	The portion of the sales price paid in cash. Down payments typically range from 3-5%.
EARNEST MONEY	A portion of the down payment that is placed in escrow with the real estate agent when the sales contract is accepted. The earnest money deposit indicates the buyer's firm intention to purchase the property in question. If the contract is accepted by the seller, these funds will be for the purchaser's down payment and closing costs.
EQUITY	The difference between the value of the property and the amount owed on the mortgage. Equity increases over time as the mortgage is paid down or if the property increases in value.
ESCROW ACCOUNTS	Lenders typically collect 1/12 of the annual payments due on property taxes, plus hazard and mortgage insurance premiums. These monthly payments are placed in an escrow account, from which the lender draws the tax and premium payments when they fall due.
FIXED-RATE LOAN	The interest rate on a fixed-rate mortgage loan will not change throughout the life of the loan.
FORECLOSURE	The legal process by which a lender sells a property because the loan is in default.
FOUR Cs	In traditional underwriting, the lender examines the Four Cs to determine whether to grant the loan—Collateral, Capacity, Credit, and Capital.

GOVERNMENT MORTGAGES

Mortgage loans that are insured or guaranteed by the federal government.

GROSS MONTHLY INCOME

The amount an individual earns before taxes and other deductions are taken out of the paycheck.

HOME EQUITY LOAN

Loans secured by a home that can be used for a broad variety of purposes—to consolidate loans, pay college tuition, or even take a vacation. The interest on home equity loans may be tax-deductible. Please consult your tax advisor for details.

Borrowers should carefully review the terms of such loans and whether they are affordable—because, in the end, the home is at stake!

HOME INSPECTION

A home inspection, conducted by a certified inspector, includes a detailed review of the structure and systems of the home. The inspection report itemizes the condition of each item inspected and makes recommendations on how to address any deficiencies. This inspection is not required by a lender, but is strongly recommended.

HOME WARRANTY

Home warranties generally cover repairs to a specified part of a home, such as major appliances or the plumbing, electrical, heating and air-conditioning systems.

HOUSING EXPENSE RATIO

In traditional mortgage underwriting, the housing expense ratio is used as a guideline to calculate how large the monthly housing expense payments should be, based on gross monthly income. For example, if a mortgage product has a housing expense ratio of 33%, the borrower's monthly housing expenses should not exceed 33% of his or her gross monthly income.

JOINT TENANCY

A form of ownership under which owners have equal interest in the property and may sell their interest to whomever they choose. When one owner dies, the surviving owner(s) automatically inherit that share.

LOAN ESTIMATE (LE)

Lenders must provide an LE to borrowers within 3 days of receiving a loan application. The LE summarizes the key information about the loan, including estimated interest rate, monthly payments and total closing costs, as well as estimated taxes and insurance. The LE should also explain whether the loan carries any prepayment penalty or negative amortization features. The LE is a standard form designed to help borrowers better understand the terms of a loan and allow them to compare different terms from different lenders, before the loan is approved or denied.

LOAN MODIFICATION

With a loan modification, the servicer changes one or more of the terms of the loan to help the borrower bring the defaulted amount current. This option is generally used with borrowers whose financial problems are expected to be long-term.

LOAN TO VALUE (LTV) The loan-to-value ratio is calculated by dividing the unpaid loan balance by the current value of the property.

MANUFACTURED (CHASSIS-BUILT) HOME A factory-built home on a permanent frame with a removable transportation system, delivered and permanently attached to a site-built foundation.

MORTGAGE OR DEED OF TRUST The Mortgage or Deed of Trust is the recorded evidence of the promise to repay the loan. If the loan is not repaid as promised, the lender may take over the property.

MORTGAGE INSURANCE Mortgage insurance reimburses the lender or investor for losses incurred during a foreclosure. The borrower pays the monthly mortgage insurance premium.

NON-TRADITIONAL CREDIT Limited or no traditional credit history is available, such as from use of credit cards, student or car loans; however, individuals may document a good payment record using other sources, including rent, utilities, telephone, cable payments and other accounts.

NOTE The Note is signed by the borrower at closing and is the formal promise to repay the mortgage loan according to the terms specified in the Note.

ORIGINATION POINT Lenders may charge origination points to offset the administrative costs of processing and underwriting the loan. Each point is 1% of the loan amount.

PITI A mortgage payment includes four parts—Principal, Interest, Taxes and Insurance.

PREDATORY LENDERS There is no single, clear-cut definition of predatory lending. Basically, a lender exhibits predatory behavior when placing its interests above the interests of the borrower. For example, a predatory lender will not hesitate to approve borrowers for a loan amount they cannot possibly afford.

PREFORECLOSURE SALE Also called a “short sale.” Under this arrangement, the servicer agrees to accept the proceeds from the sale of a home even though the amount is less than owed.

PREPAYMENT PENALTY If the borrower makes an additional principal payment or pays off the loan more quickly than the prescribed payment schedule, that borrower could incur a prepayment penalty.

PREPAYS The lender may collect certain expenses at closing in advance of when they are due, such as collecting one full year’s premium for mortgage insurance and/or hazard insurance to set up the escrow accounts.

RATE LOCK-IN	A written agreement under which the lender will lock in or guarantee an interest rate/point combination for a period of time after taking the loan application.
REFINANCE	To pay off one or more existing mortgage loans with funds received from a new mortgage on the same property -- usually done to reduce the interest rate or mortgage payment, or to draw out cash from the equity in the home.
SECOND MORTGAGE	Second mortgages are so-called because the loan is subordinated to the first mortgage. In other words, the second mortgage lender stands in line behind the holder of the first mortgage in case of a foreclosure.
SERVICING	Collection of loan payments and performance of other mortgage-related services, including interactions with the borrowers, which may be performed by the lender itself or by a servicing company ("servicer") authorized to perform these tasks.
SOLE OWNERSHIP	Under sole ownership, title to the property is held in one person's name only.
SURVEY	A drawing or map of the precise boundaries of the property as well as easements, rights of way and other physical features.
TENANCY IN COMMON	If title to the property is held using this option and one owner dies, that ownership may go to his or her heirs, rather than to the surviving owner(s).
TERM	The term is the maximum period of time over which the mortgage is repaid.
TITLE	A legal document evidencing the legal ownership of a property.
TITLE INSURANCE	Title insurance protects the holder of the policy against loss resulting from disputes over ownership of the property. The borrower is required to buy a policy for the lender and should also buy a policy to protect their own interests as well.
TOTAL DEBT RATIO	In traditional mortgage underwriting, the total debt ratio is used to calculate how large the monthly payments on housing expenses and other debts ( student and car loans, credit card debt, etc. ) should be, based on gross monthly income. For example, if a mortgage product has a total debt ratio of 38%, the borrower's housing expenses plus other debts should not exceed 38% of his or her gross monthly income.
TOWNHOUSE	A type of condominium in which one owns an individual townhouse living unit and shares ownership of the common areas.
TRANSFER OF SERVICING	At any point, the lender or servicer collecting the mortgage payments may transfer that responsibility to another servicer. The basic terms of the mortgage will remain unchanged and borrowers have a 60-day grace period in case their payments go to the wrong place.
